

LWB EDUCATION CHARTER FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

LWB Education is for young people of high school age looking for a different way of doing school.

If school hasn't worked for you before, that's ok.
We're here to create a space where you feel supported,
valued, and empowered to succeed.
We have teachers and youth workers who care about you.
We'll work together to help you reach your goals.

Your Rights

We're here to listen. We are committed to your right to participate, be heard and make sure your right to an education is upheld.

We're Inclusive

We respect and support all students including young people of different cultural backgrounds, gender identities, neurodiversities in safe, inclusive and welcoming environments where you can be your awesome self.

Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Young People

We respect the contributions of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities and young people. Together, we respect and support your cultural identity and knowledges.

Ways That Work for YOU

Your learning program is designed with you at the centre. You'll have a say in what and how you learn so that it fits your pace and needs. Whether you want to explore new interests or strengthen your skills, we'll provide the support and resources to help you thrive.

Find Your Path

We're here to help you discover what inspires you and plan your path forward. This might include finishing school, finding a job, building your confidence, or exploring further education. Whatever your goals, we'll support you every step of the way, to achieve your full potential and work towards your future.

Learning Pathways

We offer a variety of pathways to suit your needs and interests:

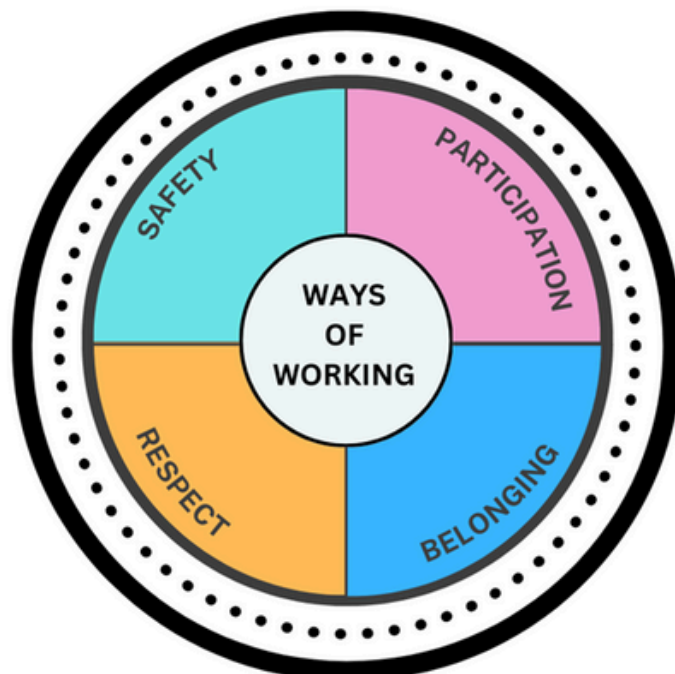

- State Curriculum: Years 7 to 10 and Senior subjects, with support for both online and face-to-face learning.
- VET (Vocational Education and Training): Gain hands-on skills and qualifications.
- Electives: High interest learning options that match your passions.
- Skill Development: Focused support for literacy, numeracy, and other essential skills.

How Are We Different?

We believe in doing school differently by putting relationships first. At LWB Education, respect, safety, participation, and belonging are at the core of everything we do.

- Respect is respect for self, others and the environment.
- Safety is how we create physical and emotional safety.
- Participation is about having a go and the right to negotiate how we participate.
- Belonging is about fostering a place for everyone.

Instead of rigid rules, we create shared agreements on how to work together. This approach helps us build a strong, supportive community where everyone feels valued.

Practical Support

We understand that life can come with challenges, so we work with you to remove barriers that might get in the way of your education. Here are some of the practical ways we do this:

- No school fees: Everything, including activities, is covered.
- Meals provided: Free breakfast, morning tea, and lunch every day.
- No booklists or stationery costs: All resources are supplied.
- Travel support: Access to school buses or public transport assistance.
- Youth work support: In-class wellbeing support tailored to your needs.
- No uniforms: Wear what makes you comfortable.

What You'll Get at Our School

- A team of teachers and youth workers who genuinely care about you and your learning.
- Support for your wellbeing, addressing challenges that impact your learning.
- Culturally safe spaces
- Supportive spaces to explore your goals and ambitions.
- Restorative practices to help resolve conflicts and move forward positively.
- Personalised Learning Plans and Cultural Support Plans tailored to your strengths and needs.
- Flexible learning options designed to suit you.
- Small classes with plenty of one-on-one support.
- Engaging, hands-on activities that make learning exciting.
- A community where you can be yourself and feel like you belong.

At LWB Schools, Your Voice Matters.

Together, we'll create a learning experience that helps you grow, succeed, and build the future you want.

Welcome to a place where you can truly thrive.