Life Without Barriers belongs to this group, too.

- Lots of people from different companies in the CSIA group had a meeting.

WE LIFE WITHOUT BARRIERS VE

- At this meeting, people talked about ways for companies who have disability services to give people with disability a job.

- The boss of Life Without Barriers went to this meeting too. Her name is Claire Robbs.

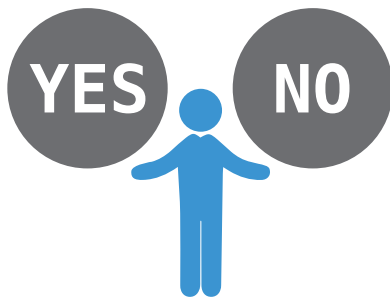

- At the meeting, Claire explained that it's not fair that people with disability who want jobs can't get them.

- Claire also said that there are lots of jobs in disability services, which can be done by people with disability.

- Life Without Barriers believes people living with a disability should have the same choices as everyone else.

- The boss of CSIA, Belinda Drew, agrees with Life Without Barriers.

- Belinda said that she wants to work out what's stopping people with disability from getting and keeping a job.

- Life Without Barriers and CSIA will talk to other companies to find ways for them to give more people with disability a job.
